Alumni Association Organizes Area Advisory Council

Meeting at the end of March, 80 civic-minded people of East and Central Illinois were mobilized by the Alumni Association of Eastern Illinois State college to set up educational goals for the school.

Businessmen, farmers, professional men, and housewives mingled with educational leaders of the area as guests of the Association, headed by Alexander Summers, '36, of Mattoon. A dinner and business meeting were held on the evening of March 30.

These leading citizens, many of whom had never before visited the campus, will consider the place of Eastern in relation to the higher education needs of a distinct area.

The name of the new organization is "The Eastern Illinois State College Area Advisory Council." It includes representatives from a triangular 26-county area extending from Danville on the northeast to East St. Louis on the west and Mt. Carmel on the south. Eastern gets the great majority of its 1300 students from this area.

According to Summers, the Council may, after careful study, make recommendations to the college administration, the Teachers College Board, and the state legislature. Its primary function, however, will be to clarify and interpret area needs to the college and to the people of the area itself.

"I know of no other organization which has devoted itself solely to these goals," said Summers. "The Council will, in this sense, be a unique and experimental group."

The Summer Alumnus will carry a list of the officers and membership of the Area Advisory Council.

Cover Picture

For the first time since basketball became a college sport at Eastern in 1911, when new Coach C. P. Lantz introduced it, Eastern has won a clear conference title. This is the great squad that turned the trick. (Actually, in the early days of the old IAC not titles were awarded because the size of the conference made it impossible for one team to play all opponents.)

L. to r.—Bob Lee, Roger Dettro, C. J. Doane, Tom Katsimpal, Jim Johnson, Norman Patberg, Coach Bill Healey, Don Glover, John Wilson, Ed Soergel, and Dwayne Roe.

To Offer ^MB.S. in Ed. Degree This Summer

Eastern will offer advanced professional education leading to the Master of Science Degree in Education, beginning with the 1951 summer term.

Veterans expecting to enroll under the GI bill must secure a new certificate of eligibility and begin their work before June 30.

Thirteen different departments are offering courses which total 46. Only men's and women's physical education, art, and home economics are not represented in the course list published in a special graduate study bulletin available from Registrar Blanche Thomas.

The aim of the new program, as stated by Dean H. F. Heller, is the significant advancement of the professional and personal competence and scholarship of individuals desiring careers in public education. Emphasis is on the development of the "master teacher." This does not necessarily involve research of the sort expected of subject matter scholars. The general features of the program, listed below, bear out this fact:

1) Candidates must file application and transcripts of undergraduate work with the Registrar at least 30 days prior to first registration.

2) A program of at least 48 quarter hours must be approved by the Committee on Candidacy. The student will usually take 12 quarter hours per summer term or 16 per regular term.

3) A substantial paper must be written and approved as a requirement for graduation.

4) Grades must average B with not more than eight quarter hours of courses with grades below B for graduation.

5) Graduates of Eastern may transfer up to 16 quarter hours of approved graduate credit from other institutions.

6) Not more than eight quarter hours of graduate credit may be earned in extension courses.

7) Twelve quarter hours of basic courses in education are required.

8) From 24 to 28 quarter hours of courses specifically related to the student's career are required.

9) From eight to 12 quarter hours of general cultural courses are required.

President Reports On Legislation

Seeks Budget to Hold Teachers, Make Repairs

Solicits Support of Joint Alumni Council Bill to Give TC Board Independence from Code Departments.

By July 1 of this year the Illinois General Assembly will have acted upon the request of the Teachers College Board for money to operate the teacher-training institutions at Charleston, DeKalb, Macomb, and Normal. It probably will also have acted upon legislation affecting the organization and government of tax-supported higher education of the state.

Both types of legislation are of concern to alumni of Eastern.

We should like to outline facts relating to them.

Eastern is asking for a budget of $3,424,169 for operational costs, $794,217 of which comes from fees and moneys received by the college. This is an increase of $356,924 in direct appropriations over the current budget.

An appropriation of this size is needed, first, to retain the present corps of faculty and employees. The increase of students since World War II added an appreciable number of well-trained young faculty members who have proven their teaching ability. It is of utmost importance that these persons be retained, and an increase in salary is the best assurance of doing so.

Added demands for off-campus services will keep the present staff fully employed should college enrollment temporarily decrease. The general level of faculty salaries must be raised.

The employee group is markedly underpaid when increases in cost of living are considered. It is hoped that the employees of the five smaller educational institutions can be united with those of the University of Illinois into a proposed University Employee Civil Service system, and an adequate salary and promotion schedule established.

The program of fifth year work being started this summer will not add appreciably to the cost of operating the college during the next biennium. The number of fifth year students will at least partially offset the decline in veteran enrollment and losses due to military service demands.

While personal services come first, the second item of major concern to Eastern is securing sufficient funds to bring the building repair program to completion and to replace and bring up to date the worn and outmoded laboratory, shop equipment, and furniture of the classrooms. As graduates, you know a good deal about this. Most of you find better and more modern equipment in the high schools where you teach than in the college where you were taught to teach. At the meeting of the Teachers College Board on March 26 an additional $200,000 was allotted Eastern for rehabilitation and modernization of the physical plant.

Finally, Eastern is in need of a new training school building to replace the outmoded, inadequate, non-fireproof and structurally unsound building now in use. The proposed building will house nursery school and kindergarten (for which present facilities do not provide) six grades of elementary, and three grades of junior high school. An amount to cover the cost of plans and specifications for this building was added on March 26.

Emphasis on elementary education demands modern facilities, and proposed plans call for a building similar to those recently constructed at Mt. Vernon, Wilmette, Flossmoor, Hoopeston, and Crystal Lake.

Of almost equal importance is a new building to house the three vocational areas of business education, home economics, and industrial arts. Eastern Illinois needs the educational opportunity of a two-year vocational college, and the campus at Charleston should be the center for such development.

The ALUMNUS has often discussed the importance of reorganizing state control of the teacher-training institutions to permit fiscal independence for the Teachers College Board commensurate with its educational responsibility. We earnestly solicit your support of bills now being drafted by the Joint Alumni Council in support of legislation to accomplish this end.

Sincerely,
R. G. Buzzard

Cornerstone is Laid for Residence Halls to House 308 Students

Alumni Approve Lincoln and Douglas as Hall Names

Eastern's two new residence halls will be called "Lincoln" and "Douglas," according to a decision made in February by the Teachers College Board. Members of the college faculty first suggested that the two buildings be named for the famous participants in the fourth Lincoln-Douglas debate, held in Charleston in September of 1858. Then President R. G. Buzzard wrote to 50 alumni representing every era in Eastern history and received an overwhelming vote in favor of the suggestion. The 50 included members of a special Alumni Association committee named two years ago to suggest names for campus buildings.

Construction of the residence halls is now advancing rapidly, and W. H. Franklin, president of the main contracting firm, states that he is sure they will be ready for use in the fall of 1952, or even by the summer of that year.

A cornerstone was laid on March 7 for the two adjoining buildings (see accompanying photograph). They occupy the site of the old Panther Lair, which burned in 1942. Lincoln Hall, which will be occupied by 154 men, is being built on the trail which Lincoln is supposed to have taken in his trips to "Goose-nest Prairie" to see his father and step-mother seven miles southwest of Charleston. It is also adjacent to Lincoln Memorial Highway, which leads to Lincoln Log Cabin State Park. Douglas Hall, which will be occupied temporarily by 154 women, is directly west of Lincoln Hall.

When additional housing has been built for women, as is planned, men will occupy both units.

Typical comments from alumni contacted by President Buzzard for name suggestions follow:

"... excellent... I've given considerable thought toward other suggestions and can offer none as appropriate... as Lincoln and Douglas." Bette Bails Johnson, '40.

"... not only highly appropriate, but add color, legend, and tradition in the best Ivy League manner... more even than if they were named... Jim Roberts, '46."

"LINCOLN and DOUGLAS seem to me to be very fitting choices...

your success in securing new buildings is remarkable indeed..." D. F. Fleming, '12.

"... good... It is one of the facts (Lincoln-Douglas debate) about Charleston that I use for identification of the place to the benighted persons who have not heard of it." Grace K. Nees, '40.

"... heartily approve... Such names should stimulate a healthy competition between residents of the two halls." Gerald L. Kincaid, '39.

"... most appropriate and timely... add my vote." Ciney Rich, '12.

"... logical and appropriate... with all due respect to Dr. Lord, of whom I was (and am) a great admirer, I do not link 'his spirit and personality' with a dormitory for modern youth (of whom I also approve!)." Elsie Sloan, '24.

"... most excellent... congratulations on seeing them through with such speed. Money was appropriated for a Phys, Educ. Bldg. here (Duluth Branch, Univ. of Minnesota) two years ago and we don't even have a hole in the ground!" Tom Chamberlin, '36.

"... no particular reason to dissent (but) it seems to me we could choose some connected with EI's history... Why not Lantz Hall?"

Long-Needed Home Management House Being Built

The above architect's sketch of the new home management house now under construction on Eastern's southeast campus accents the long low lines of the beautiful ranch-type building.

Although the floor plan below shows only one unit, the structure actually consists of two adjoining complete houses, both of which have two bedrooms, a director's room, a nursery and guest room, kitchen, two baths, and dining and living space. A garage adjoins each living room with a flagstone breezeway between each.

For ten years the college has used rented houses, often poorly adapted to the purpose, for home management teaching. In those ten years seven different houses were used.

The plot plan above shows the location of the new home management house with respect to the Booth Library and outdoor theater. For alumni unacquainted with these, it is better described as being placed just north of the old sweet gum grove at the southeast corner of the main campus.

The structure is being built by the W. H. Franklin Company of Springfield, main contractor for the residence halls also under construction. Total cost, with equipment, will be in the vicinity of $100,000. The buildings will be model homes in every way. They were planned by Clarence Warren Doll, A.I.A., with the approval of C. Herrick Hammond, supervising architect. The College home economics staff was consulted on many details.

Among special features are radiant floor heat, carpeted floors in all rooms except kitchen, utility, and baths, and roll away beds.

Keeping in touch . . .

Class of 1903

Roscoe Farrar, '03, who has been farming near Humboldt since 1911, comments, "Good health, well nourished, no indebtedness, lots of friends."

Class of 1904

David McKendree Dewhirst, '04, of Maroa, Ill., remembers that the stair steps to EI classrooms were so close together that he "took them three at a time with furtive eye." That, he says, was almost 50 years ago.

Martha B. Rapp, '04, retired in June, 1950. She taught in the Mattoon Washington School from 1904 to 1908, and 1914 to 1936, and was third grade teacher and principal of Lincoln School, also in Mattoon, from 1936 to 1950. She lives at 1701 Moultrie Ave., Mattoon, Ill.

Classes of 1905-09

By Lida Hostetler Shriver, '09

Irma M. Bradley (Mrs. DeWitt C. Vaile), '05, 515 McGilvra Blvd., Seattle, Wash., has lived in Seattle the past 27 years. Mr. Vaile is a special representative of Northwest Airlines and travels a good deal. He spent six weeks in the Orient last year and saw much of Korea before we became involved in the war. The Vailes have two daughters and both of their husbands are commanders in the Navy.

Ethel Gannaway, '05, retired in June, 1950, from teaching. She lives at 1316 Lafayette Ave. Mattoon, Ill.

Roy Wentz, '05, 1513 S. Sixth St., Springfield, Ill., principal of Springfield High School, plans to retire this year. His son served in World War II and was missing somewhere in Siam for over a year. The Wentz never gave up hope and, after a long period in a prison camp, their son did get home.

Gertrude Shoot (Mrs. Harold H. Blair), '05, resides at 2185 S. W. Tenth St., Miami 25, Fla. (new address), since her husband's death. She has entertained a number of friends from Illinois on sojourns in Florida.

Flora Balch, '05, has traveled extensively since retiring from her work as teacher of mathematics at Evanston Township High School in 1946, after 30 years there. Her address is now 1506 Wesley Ave., Evanston, Ill., but she often spends several weeks at the old home place in Lerna. A few months ago, while a luncheon guest of Ruth Hostetler, '08, 219 Taylor, Charleston, she told of meeting several former EI friends while on a trip through the western and southern states and Mexico. When she returned to Mexico City in February, 1950, she found a letter from Mrs. Charles Sherman (Josephine Honn), '05, asking her to get in touch with her sister, Jessie Honn, '09 (Mrs. Geo. I. Myers), whose address was on the same street as the Hotel Montego in which Flora and her traveling companion were staying. Jessie invited them to dinner at an exclusive club and though they had never met before their mutual interest in travel and mutual friendships gave them much to talk about. Jessie had just returned from several months in Rio de Janeiro. Returning to the States and spending several weeks in Arizona, they proceeded to California, where Josephine had arranged for a reunion of former EI friends living near Pasadena. There were 14 present at a Dutch Treat lunch at Bullocks on April 29. Among them:

Ed Honn, '05, and wife, Nelle Sims Honn, '04, 4812 Saloma, Sherman Oaks, Van Nuys, Calif. Married in 1907, the Honns taught in Bisbee and Prescott, Ariz., until 1935, retired from Arizona and moved to California, where they taught in the Ridgway Military Academy, Woodland Hills, until 1949, when both retired from teaching. (They enjoy the Eastern Alumnus and await each issue in anticipation of news, according to a recent letter to this correspondent).

Minnie Evans (Mrs. Earl Rosenberry), '06, 4437 Gainsborough Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.) and her husband. Minnie retired in 1948. Her husband, a graduate of Illinois Normal, is principal of a Los Angeles junior high school. Mrs. Rosenberry's father, W. M. Evans, was a member of the EI faculty from 1899 until his death in 1904. Her mother, near 90 years of age, makes her home with the Rosenberrys. All drove to Phoenix, Ariz. to spend last Christmas with Mr. Rosenberry's mother and sister.

Miss Isabel McKinney, EI faculty member, 1904-45, 470 Baughman Ave., Claremont, Calif., and her sister Alice, now on disability leave from the EI Training School, art department.

Miss Ora Neal, EI faculty member 1923-34, 455 W. Seventh St., Claremont, Calif.

Mamie O'Neal (Mrs. Chauncey Doty), registrar at EI, 1904-06, 14535 Killian St., Van Nuys, Calif.

Mrs. Sherman, who planned this highly successful reunion, died a few weeks later, in May of 1950.

While in California, Miss Balch visited with Marguerite Hampton (Mrs. Harry F. Stoll), '20, 2975 Shifffield Rd., San Mariano 9. Mrs. Stoll is engaged in administrative work in the Los Angeles schools.

Elizabeth Tooke (Mrs. Lawrence Brooks), '05, 215 Hawthorne St., New Bedford, Mass., was called to Charleston by the death of her mother in January.

Nora Overholser Beam, '05, lives with her mother and sister, Rose, just south of the Eastern campus on R. R. 4. She began teaching in Charleston in 1925 and since 1927 has been principal of the Washington School. Of the Class of 1905, she has kept in touch only with Oscar S. Stanberry, of R. R. 1, Charleston, a retired farmer. On receipt of the ALUMNUS and a copy of the Alumni Register, she hunted up her class picture and began the pleasant task of identifying them and learning what they are now doing.

Bertha Huron (Mrs. James M. Collins), '05, 816 Midland Ave., Little Rock, Ark., keeps up correspondence with schoolmate Nelle Compton (Mrs. T. A. Fulton), Charleston. Mr. Collins died in 1924. A son, James, lives in Little Rock also.

Florence Long (Mrs. Curtis Carman), '06, writes that Mr. Carman is retiring from teaching and they are leaving Cleveland for a new home in Colorado in June. She states that she can be reached in care of Ruth C. Long, 1120 W. Edwards St., Springfield, Ill.

Charles W. Fender, '06, plans to visit Charleston and Eastern next September. His home is at 1927 El Dorado Ave., Berkeley 7, Calif.

Ruth Reat, '06, S. 107th St., Seattle 88, Wash., has had a most interesting career. Her teaching includes a year in Illinois; two in Washington and California; a period in Sinuk, Alaska; Hilo, Hawaii; Anchorage, Alaska; a year with the YMCA in Paris, France and another in New York City, after which she returned to Cantwell, Alaska, to teach in a government school. Retiring in 1924, she bought an interest in a reindeer farm but didn't find it too profitable. She and her brother, Ralph, then took charge of the Nome, Alaska, branch of the Lomann merchandising firm of Seattle. During Ruth's stay in Alaska her mother, Mrs. Joe Reat of Charleston, spent much of her time there. Ruth retired to Seattle about four years ago. She visited in Charleston in December, 1950, took a short trip East, and spent Christmas with an uncle in Amarillo, Tex.

Ellen Dwyer, '06, has taught Spanish in Evanston Township High School since 1932 and often spends her summer vacations among the Spanish speaking people of Mexico.

Mary McNutt, '07, 844 S. Lincoln Ave., Springfield, Ill. (new address), is a near neighbor of Jeanette Dickerson, '09. Miss McNutt retired about two years ago.

Lois Davis, '07, and her sister, Charlotte, live at the Homestead Hotel, 1625 Hinman Ave., Evanston. She taught in the Evanston public schools from 1914-16. A heart condition prevents any strenuous activity but she takes an active interest in P. T. A. and other school affairs.

Myrtle Amy Cruzon (Mrs. D. L. Geyer), '07, is at present writing a book on the techniques of fiction. She is a literary consultant and college instructor in creative writing.

Otto Harwood, '07, a retired Army colonel, is now living at 1035 Wiltshire Dr., San Antonio, Tex.

Nelle Newman Clark, '07, retired in June, 1950. She writes that she is "catching up with myself now. Doing some things long neglected—and liking it." She lives at 2304 N. Main, Decatur, Ill.

Bertha McCrory (Mrs. James Lee Wilson), '08, 1403 E. Jefferson Blvd., South Bend, Ind., is the mother of three sons. James, the eldest, is a chest surgeon, carrying on the practice of his father, now deceased. Lee is in South America attending and teaching at Santiago University, School of Cultural Relations, Chile. A member of a reserve unit, he expects to return to the U. S. soon. Son George is manager of a farm.

Ezra O. Bottenfield, '08, was recently presented to the Champaign Exchange Club as a candidate for the Book of Golden Deeds. The Club annually adds to the roll the name of a citizen who has made outstanding contributions to the community. Mary Bruner (Mrs. Leo Tehon), '09, was present at the presentation banquet.

Although he suffered a fractured hip and retired from teaching in the Champaign High School two years ago, Mr. Bottenfield now walks without a crutch or cane. He is still treasurer and business manager of the Champaign Schools Credit Union and teaches his church school class in the First Methodist Church of Champaign, as he has done for more than 20 years. He was a member of the Council of Religious Education at the time of the now famous McCullum trial.

A daughter, Esther, died suddenly in 1948 after teaching all day in the Marseilles, Ill., High School. Another daughter, Lois, teaches in the high school at St. Charles, Ill.

Chester Hume, '09, of Seattle, Wash., sends the ALUMNUS what he terms, "Gripe Sheet for 1950:"

Feb. 10—My son Cecil, his wife, and his son went by air to visit folks in New Zealand.

May 1—They returned and brought me some unusual stories and news from "down under." Grandson Graham spoke English so well that we could not understand him.

June 10—Cecil caught the largest salmon ever caught in local waters, weight 75 pounds.

Aug. 1—Our gang went to top of Mount Rainier. Cub bear took loaf of bread from Graham.

Sept. 1—Found half my body was quite dead when I tried to get up. One half my tongue numb but the other half still blabbed.

Oct. 1—Mrs. Hume found out she had stomach ulcers and could work no more. Cecil went into military service. Now executive officer, Camp Stoneman, Calif.

Oct. 10—Son Owen completely wrecked new automobile.

Dec. 1—A house where I once lived now standing in five feet of water.

Dec. 25—Am recovered and Mrs. Hume is recovering nicely.

Jeannette Dickerson, '09, teacher at Ursaline Academy in Springfield, Ill., hopes to retire next year, depending on the war situation. She served in both World War I and II.

Margaret Briggs, '09, recently decorated and furnished a room in the Charleston Hospital in memory of her mother, Mrs. Alexander Briggs.

Sophia Miles (Mrs. Lee Morgan), '10, 126 S. Louise, Glendale, Calif.

Coral Burke, '10, 1701 E. Villa St., Pasadena, teacher at El Centro School, Calif.

Kezia Ethel Munson, '10, has returned to Bangalore, India, where she has been teaching as a foreign missionary in the Baldwin Girls' High School since 1920. She spent a year's leave in the United States recently.

Alia N. Glassco (Mrs. John R. McNutt), '10, writes that she is living in the same house to which she came in 1913, the year of her marriage. She lives on R. R. 2, Charleston, Ill.

Edith Lowry (Mrs. Roy Robinson), '10, of Westfield, Ill., writes that she enjoyed the fortieth reunion of her class in 1950, and hopes all other classes will hold fortieth reunions.

Evalena Heeb (Mrs. F. E. Johnson), '10, writes that she has another grandchild, Andy Hopkins, son of her daughter.

Susie Ethelyn Archer (Mrs. N. C. Fleming), '11, retired in June, 1950. Her address is 1417 Wabash Ave., Mattoon, Ill.

Walter Wilson Jennings, '11, professor of economics at the University of Kentucky, is doing the revision of the "Kentucky" article for the new edition of Encyclopedia Britannica.

Hazel Gertrude Glassco (Mrs. Monroe Melton), '11, has moved to 1411 Audubon Parkway in Louisville, Ky.

Charles E. Long, '11, has a son, Charles E. Long III, who has enlisted in the Air Force. The elder Charles was in the Army during World War I, serving in France.

Florence Lelia Maxwell, '12, is supervising student teachers at Murray State College in Kentucky. Her address is 1602 Main St., Murray, Ky.

Frank A. Lindhorst, '12, director of the Christian Community Administration, College of the Pacific, Stockton, Calif., writes that his new book, Teaching Adults, will be off the press about May 1.

Dr. Lindhorst writes a very interesting letter which will appear in the summer Alumnus.

Della Ruth Adams (Mrs. Frank S. Gray), '12, died in August, 1947, it was learned recently.

Emma Newell (Mrs. Oliver E. Seaton), '12, writes that Edward G. Rosenheim, husband of Katherine Timm Rosenheim, '12, died last June. Mrs. Rosenheim is teaching polio victims in the Boise, Idaho, Hospital. Her son is a physician in the Philippines.

Ruth Thompson (Mrs. James Mills), daughter of Hazel Willson Thompson, '12, is superintendent of nurses at the Placer County Hospital, Auburn, Calif. Mr. Mills is a male nurse, men's department, in the same hospital. The Mills' daughter, Jane Ann, was born on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, six years ago.

Mabel Mary Furness (Mrs. John Merkwa), '13, began teaching in the New Hope School in February. Her husband died in February, 1950. She lives on R. R. 4, Grants Pass, Ore.

Lula Kimball (Mrs. E. A. Whalin), '13, writes from her home on R. R. 1, Rose Hill, Ill., that her two children are now married. Edwin, Jr., is doing graduate work at the University of Illinois. Margaret is married to an architect in Jackson, Miss., and has two children.

Alonzo F. Goldsmith, '13, '24, writes that his son, Claude, is now a freshman at Eastern. He is the fifth member of the family to enroll. Alonzo lives at 433 W. Lima St., Findlay, O.

James W. Shoemaker, '13, writes of his work with the firm of Schwabacher and Co. in San Francisco. This firm is one of the largest on the West coast and is a member of the New York and San Francisco Stock Exchanges.

"I head a department sometimes called the statistical department or the analytical department or the research department. Under any of these names, such a department devotes its time to the study of securities and presents the results in a constant flow of memoranda or studies. We analyze lists of holdings, making suggestions for sales or purchases, and answer thousands of questions. Any such work of ours means a constant running appraisal of the effect of political and economic forces on various industries and on the companies within those industries. Let me add that we are not concerned with the day to day fluctuations in the stock market.

"I also head the buying department, which is concerned with financing established companies—that is, arranging loans for them or selling their bonds and stocks to the public. I have charge of some collateral things, such as advertising and so on. Contrary to popular belief, our business is largely a long term investment business and not the business of speculation in securities.

"I recently completed a booklet on Canadian Pacific Railway which should be out shortly, if the company ever sends the manuscript back. I sent it to them to check the accuracy of it. The article I wrote for the National Federation of Security Analysts and which was published in the Analysts' Journal has had a rather wide use in reprints."

Mr. Shoemaker's present address is 645 Euclid Ave., San Francisco 18.

Susan Faris, '11, writes from Jalapa 237-10, Mexico City, D. F., Mexico:

"Everyone who writes to me here seems to feel it will add to the pleasure of my Sabbatical (from the Chicago schools) if I know how much snow, sleet, and zero weather I'm missing. Of course, in a way, it does! I'm enjoying my leave. I left Chicago August 18 and worked my way gradually south by car. Then I left the car in Missouri and flew down here. I've followed most of the tourist paths and am at present in the home of a Mexican woman who is a friend of a Dallas friend of mine. Her English is very fluent, but I hear a lot of Spanish and understand a little of it. I'll be here till late in March, when I head for the South American part of my journey, sailing from the Canal Zone and returning in June. I thought for a time I shouldn't be able to make that part of the journey, due to world conditions, but now I'm all set to travel the west coast as far south as Valparaiso."

Ima Blanche Kibler (Mrs. V. G. Rawlins), '14, has returned to Chicago from her retirement in Alabama. She is working as an auditor for the federal government.

Helen Irene Moffett (Mrs. Isaac Myers), '14, writes that her daughter, Vera, graduated from Eastern last June, while her other daughter, Mildred, is a physical education major at Eastern.

Margaret Jane Eads (Mrs. V. A. Leach), '14, writes that her son, John, will graduate this June from the University of Illinois. Her daughter, Marjorie, is a freshman there. The Leach home is in Maroa, Ill.

Classes of 1915-19

Mrs. Dorothy D. Faul, '18
105 West Plum St.
Robinson, Ill.

Dorothy Davis taught one year in Danville, a year at Robinson, and three at Riverside, Ill., following her graduation from Eastern. She married Frank Faul in 1923 and lived all of her married life in Riverside. Mr. Faul died in 1939 and Mrs. Faul moved to Robinson in 1941. Her interests there have included Woman's Club, Sorosis Club, Presbyterian Church activities (she is head of the primary department of the Sunday School and serves as program counselor on the board of the Mattoon Presbyterian), and Community Concerts Association. She is vice-president of the board of the Concerts Association.

Mrs. Faul's son, Richard, is a recent graduate of Indiana University and was married last July. He lives in Chicago.

Last summer Mrs. Faul took advantage of the three weeks Easter

Workshop held in Robinson in August, hoping to do some substitute teaching. "I have ended up," she says, "accepting and enjoying a full time teaching job in third grade."

Classes of 1920-22

Mrs. Lillian Myers Turner, '22
Charles L. Prather, '20, '22, writes in reply to a request for suggestions for an appropriate memorial for Mr. Lord: "Since he was interested primarily in good teaching and 'the better things in life,' it would seem inappropriate ever to name a building for him. It would be in keeping with his ideals to have an achievement fund or foundation of some sort to finance in part: (1) faculty members who want to do research during their Sabbatical leaves, (2) young instructors who want to work for advanced degrees, (3) distinguished faculty members who are tempted to go elsewhere because of better offers that cannot be met under the existing salary scale, (4) lectures, (5) concerts, (6) plays, (7) a musical festival, (8) a university band and orchestra, (9) choral societies, and (10) more scholarships for deserving students (and I would include athletes)."

Vera Giffin (Mrs. P. A. Moody), '20, in reply to the same request, suggests a small memorial chapel but questions how successful a campaign to raise the required money would be. "In my opinion, nothing could be more fitting than to name the main building, which he came to as president, for him."

Mary E. Boyer, '22, of 1441 Seminary Ave., Oakland 21, Calif., writes of her work in teaching mentally retarded, counseling four classes, and serving as a psychometrist in the Oakland schools, who have pioneered in special education. There are nearly 20,000 pupils in eight categories of special education, with 130 teachers.

"I give mental tests—both verbal and performance—and recommendations for placement. The placement recommendations go both ways, placement in special education or from special to regular.

"Sometimes I feel I almost have a 'United Nations' group in my home room. At present I have two Caucasians, two Puerto Ricans, one Chinese, one Gipsy, five Negroes, and five Mexicans! At times I need to be Solomon himself to keep the peace! I enjoy it, though.

"Probably the summer will find me spending time with my mother in Paris (Ill.). If so, I hope to get to Charleston to greet old and new friends at EI."

Class of 1945

By Mary Eleanor Grossman Mail, '45

Leslie Mayberry, '45, became manager and photographer in a portrait studio at Alton, Ill., immediately after graduation. In early 1946 he went on the road in charge of a traveling photographic unit. After half a year of photographing from 40 to 90 subjects daily, of whom 85 per cent were under the age of six, Leslie decided, he says, that there must be an easier way to obtain ulcers. He won an appointment to the Army Medical Supply Depot at Okinawa and sailed in February of 1947, remaining there until last August. He advanced from a clerkship to administrative assistant and stock control supervisor with both civilian and military personnel under his supervision.

"In addition to many other duties," he says, "I acted as timekeeper and pay-master for about 100 native employees. It was such interesting work that I was prompted to take up the study of Japanese."

For "recreation" Les taught evening and Saturday afternoon classes in typing, English grammar, basic math, biology, and Japanese at Army Education Centers. His students, who numbered over 3000 over a period of 40 months, consisted of Filipino soldiers, Chinese soldiers, American soldiers—white and colored, American civilian government workers, and his favorite group of 70 native typing students. Many of the latter knew no English, so he used Japanese, English, pidgin English, and pantomime to get across the fundamentals of typing.

Through it all, Les managed to find time to further his hobby of color movies and made rest and vacation trips to Shanghai and Japan. Since his return, Les has done considerable traveling in the States and Mexico.

DR. C. P. LANTZ

Dr. Charles P. Lantz, Eastern's oldest faculty member in point of service, expects to return to his duties early in April after becoming ill near the close of the winter quarter.

Dr. Lantz received scores of letters from alumni following his illness. He hopes to be able to answer them all personally.

Dr. Lantz, who came to Eastern in 1911 as coach and athletic director, lost only three days of school due to illness in his first 23 years on campus. In 1934 he began to be troubled by stomach ulcers and a few years later submitted to an operation, which was highly successful. He did not lose a day of school between 1940 and 1951 because of illness, until stricken in late February. His illness is tentatively diagnosed as a recurrence of the stomach ulcers with internal hemorrhaging. He was given nine blood transfusions in the early stages of convalescence. Members of Sigma Tau Gamma, social fraternity of which Lantz has been adviser since its installation, donated most of the blood.

During his absence Dr. Clifton W. White, who came to Eastern from Anderson College, Ind., in 1947, served as acting director of athletics. Henry Miller, former head of the athletic department at Canterbury College in Indiana, will serve as baseball coach.

employed with the New York Central Railroad. He and Mrs. Greathouse are living in Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Panthers End Best Cage Season With Title

EI Takes First IIAC Crown, Places Three Men on Conference First Five.

By Bob Wheeler. '53

"This is Eastern's year," we all said at the beginning of the 1950-51 basketball season. And we were so right! Most close followers of the basketball scene at Eastern were not the least bit hesitant in saying that this year's team was the best in the history of the school.

Then the team failed by the narrowest of margins to win the District 20 National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball playoffs to enter the NAIB Championship Tournament at Kansas City, Mo., a feat which had been accomplished three times in the previous four years.

It was just that Lady Luck would have nothing to do with the Panthers that evening. They shouldn't have needed any luck, having averaged 25 points per game more than their opponent—but there is always a time when the string runs out.

For the Charleston cagers it happened at a most crucial time, as Millikin University pulled a 74-73 upset in the finals of the District 20 playoffs at Huff Gym in Champaign. Two regular season wins over Millikin, by 72-60 and 90-65 scores, seemed to indicate quite clearly that Eastern was the better team. But when it came down to the one that really counted, there was too much pressure on the Panthers—as there always is on a heavy favorite. Millikin was up to win the game and looked great in doing so.

There will always be the feeling among fans who saw this year's squad in action that Eastern's chances of winning the NAIB Championship Tournament, had they got past the Illinois playoffs, would have been excellent. The Big Blue of Millikin waltzed through the first four games of the tourney with ease before losing a 69-61 thriller to Hamline University of St. Paul in the final fray. Hamline is a perennial standout at Kansas City.

The regular season and conference games in general treated the Panthers well both individually and as a team. Nineteen wins and four losses

Spring Sports Prospects Clouded By Uncertainties

By Bob Wheeler. '53

The thing one can be sure about in discussing spring sports at Eastern is this: They are unpredictable, especially in baseball and tennis.

The baseball team, under the coaching of Henry (Hank) Miller since Dr. C. P. Lantz took a temporary leave because of illness, is lacking in depth. Only eight lettermen are back from the 1950 diamond squad which won seven and lost eight.

First base and two outfield positions will probably be filled by non-lettermen from last year or by freshmen. Miller should get some solid hitting from last year's leading sluggers, however. They are Jack Whitson, J. D. Anderson, and John McDevitt. Anderson, an outfielder from Collinsville, was voted team "most valuable" last season. Whitson, third baseman from Westville, was conference "most valuable" in 1949.

On the mound, three of last season's leading pitchers, Don Brumleve, Washington, D. C.; Jules DeBouck, Manteno; and Lyle Button, Midlothian, will from the mainline hurling staff. The pitching staff was probably the weakest spot in last year's squad, however, and new talent would help.

Bill Balch, shortstop from Beecher City, and Bud Gray, catcher from Kankakee, are the other two lettermen.

Head Track Coach Maynard (Pat) O'Brien has most of his third place IIAC track team returning. Last year O'Brien found nothing but a group of willing and spirited freshmen with which to mold his squad of thinclads. But those freshmen really came through, losing only two and winning three dual meets, one triangular meet, and placing third in the seven team conference.

This year O'Brien's boys are "veteran" sophomores, and a good many of them are now school record gave the team the best winning percentage in the history of the school. The IIAC crown was the first ever to be won outright by an Eastern team. The two previous times had been co-championships. Scoring records fell left and right as Coach Healey's high scoring cage machine began rolling. Eastern finished second to Beloit in the nation with an average of slightly more than 84 points per game. The Health Education Building scoring record for one game fell three times and the school scoring record was broken twice as the boys racked up 95, 107, and 115 points against St. Joseph's, Southern, and Quincy, respectively. The 107 points against Southern established a new IIAC scoring mark, and the 105 at Central Michigan set away-from-home records for Eastern and IIAC play.

Norm "Bud" Patberg led the team to the national small college free throw first place. According to NCAA and NAIB statistical releases, Patberg led the individual gift shot race by hitting 79 of 94 for 84 per cent. The releases also showed Eastern leading the nation for the entire season, finishing in first place with 71 per cent.

Don Glover and Tom Katsimpalis also finished among the top ten in free throws. Not many schools, if any, can boast of marksmanship of that sort from the free throw line.

As for conference play, there was no doubt as to Eastern's superiority. Three conference losses—Southern 62-60, Western 83-73, and Northern, 75-71—were all away from home, and all decisively avenged on the Charleston floor. Four Eastern players made the all-conference team chosen by coaches and publicity men from the seven IIAC schools. Glover, Katsimpalis, and Jim Johnson were given berths on the first team, and John Wilson made the second team. Glover graduated from last year's Surely Mr. Lantz has done a great deal for the male student body through the years. Or perhaps Blair Hall . . . Lincoln and Douglas have had too many things named for them now . . ." Catherine Lumbrick Stopa, '36.

(The Teachers College Board broke a long-standing policy to name the Booth Library for a living person.)

"If you must go out of the family for names, I do not know how you can beat the faculty choice. But those names are used for everything from socks to neckties . . . And why must (faculty members) die to be so honored?" Roscoe Farrar, '03.

" . . . very apt . . . in the humble mind of one who lived on Fourth Street when a little boy—who liked to think of A. Lincoln coming along that very road. There just couldn't be two better names!" Truman W. May, '20.

" . . . cannot be improved upon." Minnie Cassady Iles, '16.

" . . . pleased to enthusiastically second the preference vote of the faculty . . . must confess that as early as last year . . . I believed that 'Lincoln' and 'Douglas' would be most appropriate and fitting, and did so remark to at least two members of the social science faculty. It is my hope that the other alumni contacted will share this conviction." Gail Lathrop, '49.

" . . . excellent." A. C. Forster, '22.

" . . . glad to vote for (the proposed names)" Florence Aye, '24, '42.

" . . . very appropriate." Harold S. Robbins, '31.

" . . . I have spoken to several former students and they agree . . . very suitable." Marian Rambo, '29.

" . . . very fitting." Cecil Stark, '05.

" . . . heartily approve." Margaret Briggs, '09.

" . . . very appropriate." Don Neal, '40.

" . . . very good." Mrs. V. A. Jones, '11.

" . . . very appropriate . . . I prefer the entire name, Abraham Lincoln Hall . . ." Harry Lovell, '36.

" . . . my choice also." Luther J. Black, '31.

Wild West Easternites Avid ALUMNUS Readers

Of nine graduates of Eastern living in the state of Wyoming, seven are subscribers to the ALUMNUS: Mrs. H. B. Brewer, Mrs. Eugene Cottle, Mrs. J. H. Hassheider, E. F. Keith, Ruth Linder, Mrs. Mildred S. Maurer, and Joe Shringfellow.

holders. Dash and distance men are Glen Curtis, holder of the half mile record; Howard Siegel, holder of the 100 and 220 yard dash records; Jack Sims, mile and two mile records; Jim Johnson, 440 yard dash record; Don Siegel; and Cliff Nugent.

In field events, Ted Ellis, high jump; Fred Crawford, pole vault; vault; Carl Shew, javelin; and Vern Wagner, broad jump, will be back. Ellis and Crawford hold Eastern records in their respective specialties. Shew finished third in the javelin throw at the IIAC meet last spring. Wagner took second in the conference broad jump.

Tennis Coach Rex Darling is scheduling tennis matches on the theory, "The bigger they come, the harder they'll fall—if they fall at all." With only three lettermen, Rex has scheduled a 12 match card which includes the University of Indiana.

" . . . names . . . are all right—perhaps Lincoln Hall for women and Douglas Hall for men." Emily Heistand Lynch, '27.

" . . . my choice." Ritta Whitesel, '19, '37.

" . . . uniquely appropriate . . ." Lewis Linder, '11.

" . . . approve . . . Other names which might be appropriate: Dr. Lord, Mr. Neil, Judge Marshall." Gordon A. Cook, '15, '26.

" . . . excellent choice . . . set apart names of former faculty members for buildings identified with their service, as in the case of Miss Booth . . ." Norman Goldsmith, '32.

" . . . no more appropriate names could be selected . . ." Ernest L. Freeman, '03.

" . . . very fitting." Helen Stapp, '23.

Title Crowns Panthers' Greatest Cage Season

second team, and Wilson took a slight demotion from the first squad of last season. Katsimpalis, Eastern "most valuable," became all-conference center for the second season in a row; and Johnson, junior guard, broke into all-conference honors for the first time.

Wilson tallied 357 points to push his all-time scoring record at Eastern to 1408 points. Glover led scoring for the season with 377 counters. He was followed in order by Wilson, Johnson with 336, Katsimpalis with 326, Norm Patberg with 237, Roger Dettro with 95, C. J. Doane with 63, Bob Lee with 55, Ed Soergel with 49, and Dwayne Roe with 22.

Next year Healey will have to count entirely on speed unless some big freshmen come onto the scene. Katsimpalis, Doane, Wilson, and Roe (the only six-foot plus men on this year's squad) do not plan to be back for the 1951-52 season. Doane and Wilson will be graduated with Glover this spring. Katsimpalis and Roe expect to be called into service this summer. There is some possibility that the "Kat" will be deferred because of acceptance for a reserve commission in the Marines.

That will leave Patberg, Johnson, Soergel, Lee, and Dettro. They will possibly get a good deal of help from two sharp-shooting reserves. Jim Carey and Martin Chilovich. This duo looked very good in the little varsity action that they saw this year, but neither towers over the six-foot mark.

Widger, Neely Return To Teaching Duties

Dr. Howard DeF. Widger, head of the English department, returned to his duties this spring after an illness that caused him to take a leave of absence during the fall and winter quarters. Although not accepting his customary speaking engagements or other additional duties, Dr. Widger is in excellent health.

Miss Winnie Neely, also of the English department, has returned to her work after several weeks' absence due to a serious attack of asthma.

Introducing a Series of Vignettes . . .

Eastern Immortals

THE ALUMNUS plans, in successive issues, to print a series of five vignettes of figures in Eastern's history who, more than most, colored life of the institution during its "formative" years. These vignettes were drawn by a person who knew none of the persons he writes about, but whose poetic perception gives him a truer image of their essential qualities, perhaps, than that of the persons from whom he gathered his material.

The author is Don Musselman, '49, now a teacher of English and dramatics at Bushnell High School in Illinois.

First in the series is Musselman's sketch of Friederich Koch. The others will include Ellen Ford, Anna Morse, Franklyn Andrews, and Livingston C. Lord. The ALUMNUS will welcome comments from readers.

The vignettes were prepared as part of a pageant intended for production at the close of the Golden Jubilee celebration but not given because the outdoor theater was not completed in time.

(Coming from behind the row of columns is the figure of a large man. He wears a full head of hair, a moustache, spectacles and a dark suit. He stands in the ray of light facing stage left, his back to the group.)

Narrator:

First came a tall and heavy man with a Resounding voice which framed his words in thick And rolling tones of Southern Germany.

Voice:

Friederich Koch, in life a teacher of the art of music. Born in Kassel, Germany, in 18—(Fades to a very low murmur in background of following speeches of Narrator.)

Narrator:

Old Mister Koch—the gentle music teacher;
The affable beloved friend of all
Who knew him. Genial, generous and kind;
Happy, hearty and full of cheer,
With all the attributes of gentlemen,
He gave encouragement and aid to all
Who placed their talents in his charge, though he Commented freely on their varied gifts.

Voice:

Ach, dot boy! He knows de teory—but can he sing? No!

Narrator:

A true musician with a strong hands and vig-'Rous voice who sang and played with gusto. Who Is able to forget the firmness of His notes at chapel ev'ry morning, or
The drama when he sang "Der Erlconig"
That made each list'ner see the dark and cloud-Ed wood and feel the fleeing father's dread?
How often have I seen alumni dinner
Guests' eyes fill up with tears when, after much Misgivings and protest, the old director,
With flourish and abandon, launched into
A chorus of "Der Roat to Mandalay".

Voice: (Singing)

On der roat to Mandalay,
Vere der flying fishes play
Und der sohn comes oop like tunder
Out off China, cross der bay.

Narrator:

With like robustness did he live his life.
He never lost a native taste for beer,
Good strong cigars, and pleasant friendly talk.
I clearly can recall the sight of him
When, after the morning meal, he used to walk
About his garden smoking a cigar
(The first among his daily dozen)

and

Greeting each passerby.

Distinctly also

Do I recall the furtive gleams his eyes
Took on when, after having eaten well,
He to his guests would turn and softly ask,

Voice:

Vell—would it be all right if ve hat a little vine?

Narrator:

He early came to us and with him brought
The magic and the wonder of the world
Of music; he unfolded and displayed
Its marvels to our fresh and eager minds;
And something grand and fine we never would
Have known had he not touched upon our lives.
He charmed us all and never from the scope
Of friends' and pupils' mem'ry will he pass
Until great music and the love of friends
Themselves shall also pass and be forgotten.
(The man turns and takes a place among the seated.)

Alumni Day

Health Education Building

Alumni-Parents Luncheon

Baccalaureate Services

Fortieth Anniversary, Class of 1911

The tentative program for the day includes an Alumni Luncheon at the college cafeteria at 12:30. Parents of graduating seniors and alumni parents are particularly invited. The Class of 1911 will hold a separate dinner. Baccalaureate services will be held at 3 p.m.

The campus in spring is beautiful. You will want to see old friends—former teachers, school mates. You will want to see the moving Baccalaureate Service. You will want to visit the new residence halls, the home management house, the Booth Library. Make a date with your ALMA MATER for Sunday, May 27.
